Hitting the Books

Of course we're at college for one thing: to study! But with all of the activities and everything else sometimes studying gets pushed aside ... until deadlines are too close for comfort.

Paying the Bills

If life were perfect, tuition would be free. But since it's not, students have to find jobs to make ends meet. Fortunately, campus jobs let students earn money while helping the school ... and you can't beat the commute.

Destination: World — Summer Missions

Summer means kicking back and relaxing until school starts up again in the fall. But summer also means a big chunk of time for missions trips and spreading the Gospel across the globe. Twenty-seven WBC students spent some portion of the summer months in various parts of the world, showing the love of God to children and adults alike.

Ministry in Action

Theology and doctrine are great to study in theory, but they are just that - theory - until they are put into action to change lives. In addition to merely learning about Christ, our students use their knowledge in every day ministry to others.

Athletics

Fans

Our fans may be small in number, but they make it up with spirit. Whether rain or shine, high score or barely scoring, the fans turn out faithfully to cheer on their athletes.

Men's Soccer

The men's soccer team played hard this season under the direction of Coach Jon Evans, back for his seventh season. They struggled most of the season, plagued with injuries. With most of the roster returning next season, the team looks forward to a better year in 2003.

Women's Volleyball

The women's volleyball team had a tough season with only three returning players. "We picked up some new freshmen that helped to round out our numbers," said Coach Lynn Lambert. "The women spent a grueling first few weeks learning how to work as a team and by the end of the semester, they were playing well together." With more than half of the team returning next year, they look forward to rising to the next level of competition.

Over the course of the year, the world's attention focused on a chain of tumultuous terrorist events.
